Does your child need emergency dental care?

Regular dental check-ups are important to your child's oral health. Sometimes, dental emergencies happen. A dental emergency may be any time your child has severe pain or has damage to the teeth or mouth. Your child has the same benefits and coverage for emergency services as they have for routine services.

What are things you can do if your child has a dental emergency?

Cracked or broken tooth

- Use warm water to rinse out your child's mouth. Use a cold cloth if there is swelling.
- Call your child's dentist for an appointment for care.

Knocked out tooth

- Hold the tooth by the crown, or top part of the tooth. Do not touch the root.

- If possible, try to place the tooth back in the socket, between the cheek and gum or in a container of milk.
- Use a cold, wet cloth if there is bleeding or swelling.
- Call your child's dentist for an emergency appointment for care.

You can call your Medicaid health plan or your child's dentist for help to find emergency care. You do not need approval for emergency dental services.

February is Children's Dental Health month

Simple habits like brushing twice daily, flossing and choosing water over sugary drinks can help children have bright, healthy smiles that last a lifetime.

Vaping and your oral health

Vaping harms your whole body, including your teeth and gums. Vapes can be more dangerous than tobacco products. People who vape can have more gum disease than people who use tobacco. Vape users often have bleeding, swollen gums, dry mouth, cavities and broken teeth. Nicotine restricts blood flow to gums. This limits your mouth's ability to fight bacteria and can cause infection and decay.

We speak your language

You have the right to receive culturally competent care. If you, or someone you're helping need assistance, you have the right to get help and information in your language at no cost. You can also get help finding a dentist that speaks your language. To talk to an interpreter, call the Customer Service number on the back of your member ID card.
